Introduction

Ingleton falls is a waterfall trail located in North Yorkshire. I primarily shoot street photography using a Nikon D100. I was offered the opportunity to go on this walk with my family, I took the opportunity as I had never shot nature photography before. The following results are my first attempt at nature photography.

The Money Tree

Along Ingleton's waterfall trail there are many trees that are called 'money trees' these are trees that have had coins stuck in the bark.

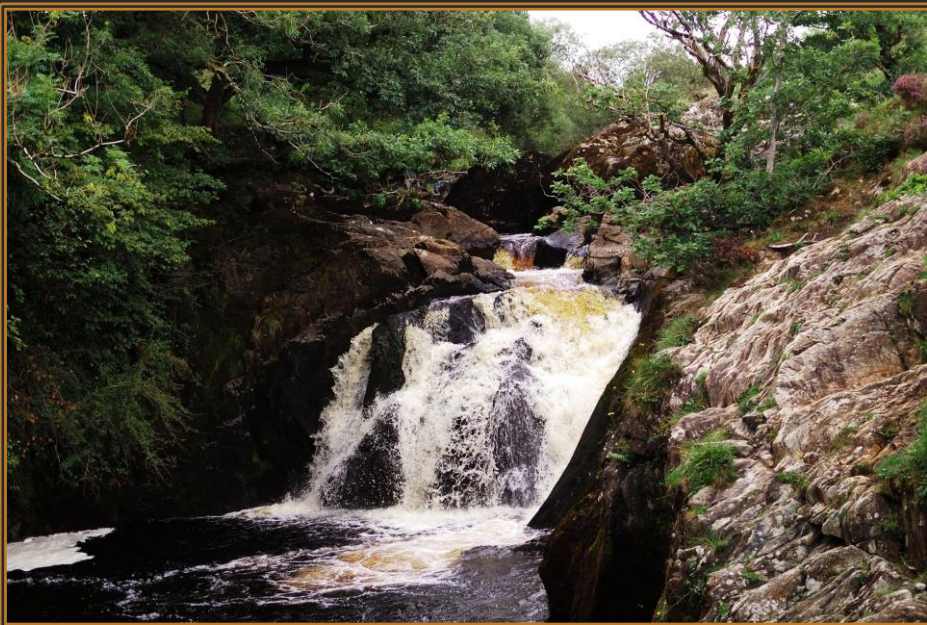

The Falls

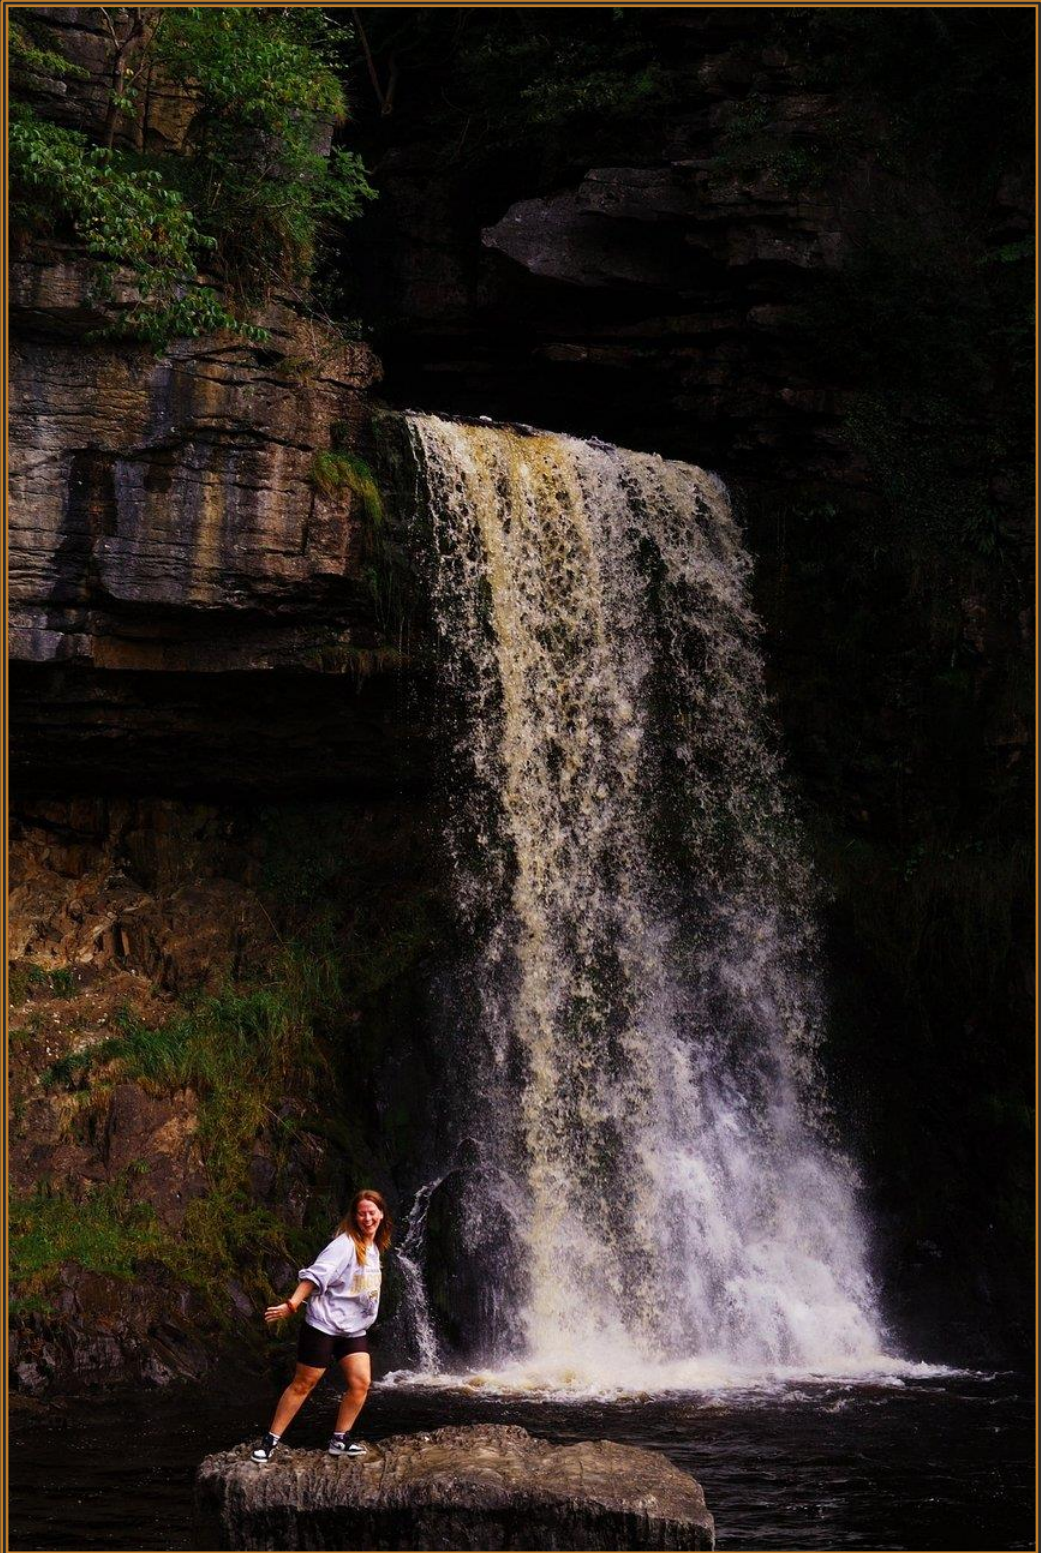

There are a total of six waterfalls along the trail.
